OFFICE OF THE ADMINISTRATOR

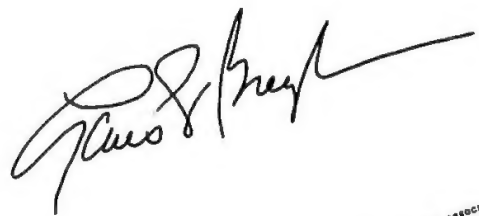

To the Class of 1967:

My congratulations to all of you on your successful completion of your studies at our School of Nursing. You have been a splendid and cooperative class. I know the spirit you have shown while in school will continue with you as you take up your professional career, bringing to your community another much needed and valuable asset.

It is my sincere hope that some of you will find it possible to remain with us as a member of our hospital nursing staff. To those who cannot, our best wishes go with you.

Sincerely yours,

Louis E. Breglia
Administrator

SCHOOL OF NURSING

To The Members Of The Class of 1967:

As the time for graduation from the School of Nursing approaches, I am sure that you are experiencing many emotions; the feelings of satisfaction and happiness of a goal accomplished, fear and excitement about the future, sadness and regret in leaving friends.

As you meet the challenges of your future; marriage, employment or further education, our wish for you is that you will face the new situations with the confidence of doing your best.

Sincerely,

Something to be Remembered

I shall pass through this world but once
Any good therefore that I can do,
Or any kindness that I can show
To any human being, let me
Do it now, let me not defer
Or neglect it, for I shall not Pass this way again.

What Is a Student Nurse

Sometimes during our lives between early babyhood and manhood, we usually encounter a delightful creature known to human society as a Student Nurse. Nurses come in assorted sizes, shapes and colors but they all have the same creed: to enjoy every second, of every minute, of every hour, of every day.

Student Nurses are found everywhere, but most commonly at bargains, pawn shops, dances and wherever there is fun and gaiety, but most often in hospitals.

Mothers and fathers worship them, brothers tolerate them, sweethearts adore them and the public respects them.

A Student Nurse is kindness with her patients, beauty in her uniform, wisdom with her white starched cap upon her head, and the hope of the future of the medical profession.

When you want her to make a good impression, her brain turns to jelly or else she uses such mammoth vocabulary that Webster himself would have difficulty pronouncing the words.

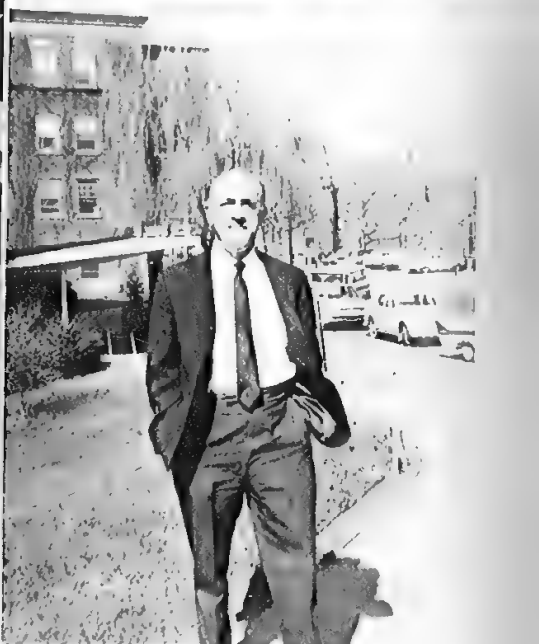

A Student Nurse is a composite: she has the appetite of a horse, the digestion of a sword swallower, and the memory of an elephant. She frequently complains of sore feet, varicose veins, fatigue and a lack of funds. She likes coffee, cigarettes, days off, peanut butter and MEN! She's not much for studying, fancy clothes, exams or bedtime.

Nobody is so early to rise or so late to retire. Nobody gets so much out of a vacation, a pair of shoes, days off or one dollar. No one else can cram into one pocket, a pack of cigarettes, lighter, comb, lipstick, pen, pencil and bobby pins the way she can.

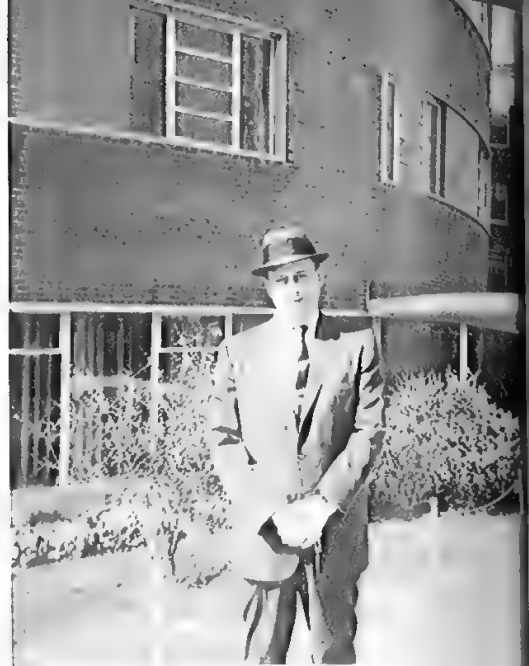

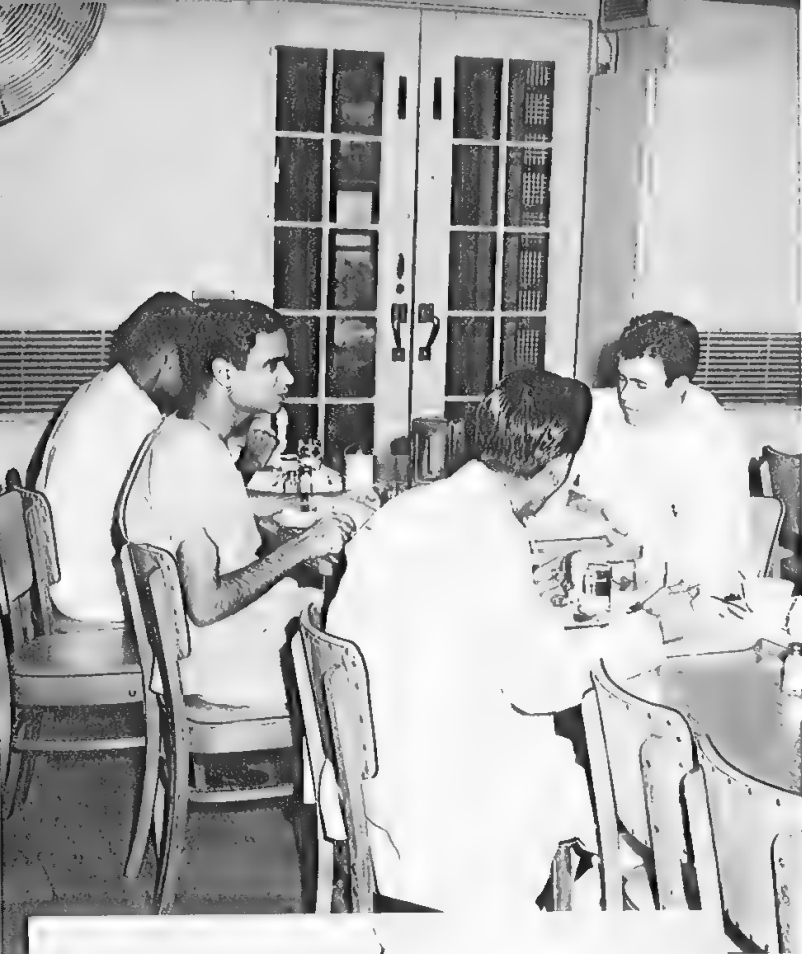

A Student Nurse is a magical creature - you can lock her out of your study but never out of your minds, nor your heart. Might as well give up - she's your boss, your comfort, your pride and your every care. A well-groomed, uniformed, fun-chasing bundle of noise, often associated with medicine, treatments, tender words and suggestions.

She listens to your every care, consoles you when you're down and out and makes life seem brighter when you're at your worst.

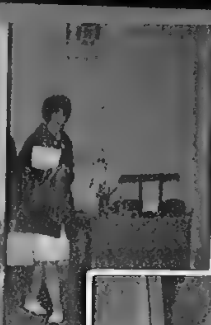

She can be your toughest problem, your nagging, stubborn headache and your cause of heart break, but when you're left with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, she can make them anew with her tender, loving smile and two magic words-- "HI THERE!"

The Business

of Life . . . Every student sooner or later asks himself, "Isn't it time I stopped preparing and started doing? Shouldn't I get on with the business of life?"

But experience shows that the business of life is precisely the business of learning. To be sure, what is learned must be applied. But the more we learn, the more we have to offer ourselves, our families, our society. It is sometimes too early to start doing, but it is never too late to continue learning.
